Kurzbeschreibung Helen is a 39 year old food technologist specialising in Japanese Sushi. After her husband confesses to his latest string of affairs, her marriage is over. With the big 4-0 rapidly approaching, Helen decides she must leave her frumpy image behind and have a complete make-over. Its time for a new Helen. Dropping a dress size, and with a new haircut and a new wardrobe to boot, this is the fresh start shes been waiting for. And when her sister Karen find a lump in her breast, it puts everything into perspective. It is time to live life in the moment. But when Richard, the new commercial manager, arrives at her office, she is immediately attracted to him. There is just one problem. He's married. Will she do the one thing she said she never would? Will she become the other woman? After all, once you get 'A Taste of Love', it is hard to refuse a second helping. A Taste of Love is a warm and witty story about marriage, relationships and living life in the moment. It is a dazzling contemporary romance that will appeal to fans of Hilary Boyd, Jane Green and Joanna Trollope. "Susan Willis has come up with the perfect recipe for a moving, emotional book." - Holly Kinsella, best-selling author of 'Uptown Girl'. Susan Willis lives in the North East of England. For 15 years she has worked as a food-product development manager. She had been writing short love stories for six years and then completed a residential food writing course run by Arvon in Devon. She has written two novels, 'Yes Chef, No Chef' and 'Love on a Plate', both of which were best-sellers. Yes Chef, No Chef was recently shortlisted for the Romantic Novelists Association (RNA) Joan Hessayon Award for new writers.
