A great love story for this day and age. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Precious, loving story Von Beryl Kalisa GET THE SHOW ON THE ROAD is indeed a delightful story. I was browsing in a local community bookstore last month and saw the book. At first, I was not sure as to wheter I should purchase it. But it kept calling me. Thank God I purchased it and completed it in two days. It has a wonderful simple story line but yet one that is so reaffirming. Quite refeeshing to read books that depict African Americans as we really are. Its a love story, its a family story and hope the author will continue to write stories that tell our truths. Such an uplifting story line. I have shared to date this book with three co-workers. Keep up the good work! We need your voice in print. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. LOVING, FANTASTIC BOOK!!!! Von Ein Kunde "Get the Show on the Road" is a poignant, passionate love story. It tells of the lives of two people from different walks of life--the haves and the have-nots. It tells of the ups and downs of their relationship, which is filled with sweetness (so sweet), anger, misunderstanding, hatred, surprises, jealousy, near tragedy, and fulfillment. You must read this book. I read it twice back-to-back. I applaud the author and hope she writes another soon.

Kurzbeschreibung This is a poignant story of love passion and ambition as a beautiful young woman, Africa Jones, strives to escape poverty by working and attending college to become a professional nurse. Her greatest fear is having to depend on a welfare check. Her widowed mother needs Africa's salary as a nurse's aide to help support her family of five. Unexpectedly, Africa meets and falls in love with a handsome young physician, Kevin Hildenbrandt. Africa quickly learns the pain of family rejection. The ups and downs of this tumultuous love affair weave a story of trust and doubt, passion and disillusionment in a setting of both poverty and affluence. Candid revelations of medical and social factors surface as romance and aspiration are woven into this story with beauty and sprinkles of humor. Dreams and reality expressed are shared by many who will delight in this colorful love story.
