KurzbeschreibungA Texas Piney Woods Story Rural East Texas, 1931. Preachers son Emory Joe Logan and a fiddler from Shreveport, Glory Lands, meet and form a tender bond. When they are caught and arrested for homosexual acts by Sheriff Elihu Bishop, the lawmans sanctimonious bigotry threatens to rip the young men from their families. Emory Joes father, Pastor Charles Logan, is brought to his knees in terror, confusion, and anger. He still regrets not standing up against Bishop when the lawman murdered a youth in cold blood nine years ago. Now theres no longer a choice for the preacher to stand up to the lawman. Cold-blooded justice, bigotry-disguised-as-religion, and hatred take on a whole new meaning when theyre standing on his doorstep, ready to take the son he loves.
