Fab novellaVon Philomena(Cheekypee)Andrea Randall (author of The November Blue series) and Michelle Pace (author of The Sound Wave series) joins their talent together in Somethings Come Up.I've not read anything by these two authors before but I think I may be hooked now.This is a fast paced novella with characters from both these authors books. It's a standalone but it does make you wanna read more about these characters. While reading this I certainly didn't think it was written by two authors. The writing is superb. Now for the story..... Great storyline. Fab characters. It's a must read novella:)Received in return for honest review.
