Von Mary Calmes : Steamroller (English Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Steamroller (English Edition):

KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Funny, quick readVon TMWhen Carson Cress, football star and golden boy at Evanston University, comes into Vinces life, neither leaves the best impression on the other. Biology student Vince has to work full time in addition to his course load to support himself and hes not willing to go easy on an entitled football star who cant even speak up for himself. Nonetheless Carson seeks him out and after a kiss that leaves both breathless Venice is more than willing to be Carson's experiment since he seems to want to know what it would be like to be with a guy. But that's all there is to it and as long as he doesn't open his heart there is no chance to get hurt; Vince isn't about to turn down a chance to be with his fantasy come to life. But then Carson sustains an injury that changes everything either of them believe in. While I enjoyed this book and have frequently re-read it is just very short on character and relationship development. I wish the author had taken more time to flesh out the story line, develop the characters and told a story that was spanning more time than basically a week. Still, I got my HEA and a few very funny scenes. I loved Vince as a character and his relationship with Matt. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Fantastic story Von Querleser Typical pairing from this author: dominant, popular alpha and pretty, effeminate guy who doesn't understand his own value. The trademark of Calmes, the permanently doubting of the relationship of Vince and the absolute conviction of Carson that the other is his personnal prince charming, is no surprise at all, neither is the happy ending after the dramatic scene. The funny dialogues and sympathetic characters are as always wonderful. And such a wonderful idea: if someone won't take "no" for an answer, just try and say it in sign language. I never thought of this... ;-)

Kurzbeschreibung About the last thing Vincent Wade expected was for Carson Cress to ask him out. Vince is a dedicated biology student and a bit of a loner. Superstar quarterback Carson is larger than life, and he lives under a public microscope. There's no way they should work. But Vince is learning that sometimes people just come steamrolling into your life and all you can do is hang on for the ride or lose your heart in the process. If their relationship can survive the fallout when an injury derails Carson's future plans, maybe Vince can finally find something to believe in.
